RULES OF THE ROAD

Speed Limits—Pennsylvania's speed limits are 50 miles an hour on the open highway, 35 to 45 miles an hour in business or residential districts where signs are posted; 15 miles an hour in the vicinity of school buildings during opening, recess and closing hours; 10 miles an hour when passing street cars taking on or discharging passengers, or at intersections where safety zones are established.

Turning Right—Keep to extreme right. Turn close to curb or edge of highway.

Turning Left—Approach intersection in the lane for traffic to the right of and nearest to the center line of the highway.

Signal When You Turn or Stop—Don't force other users of the highway to guess what you are about to do. Keep your stoplight clean and in working condition. The law requires you to signal intention to make a turn in event operation of another vehicle is affected. Use standard arm signals.

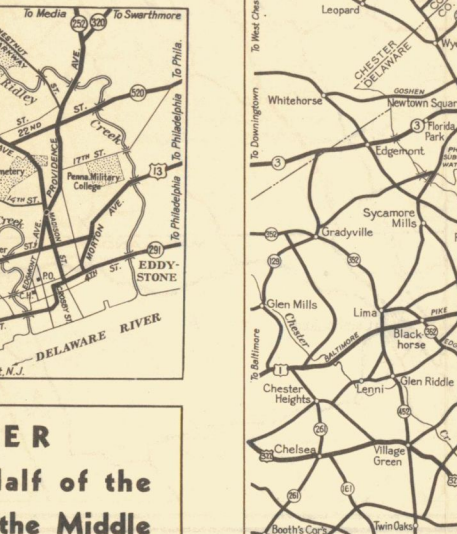

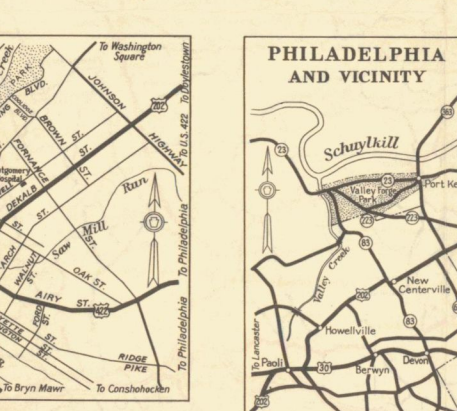

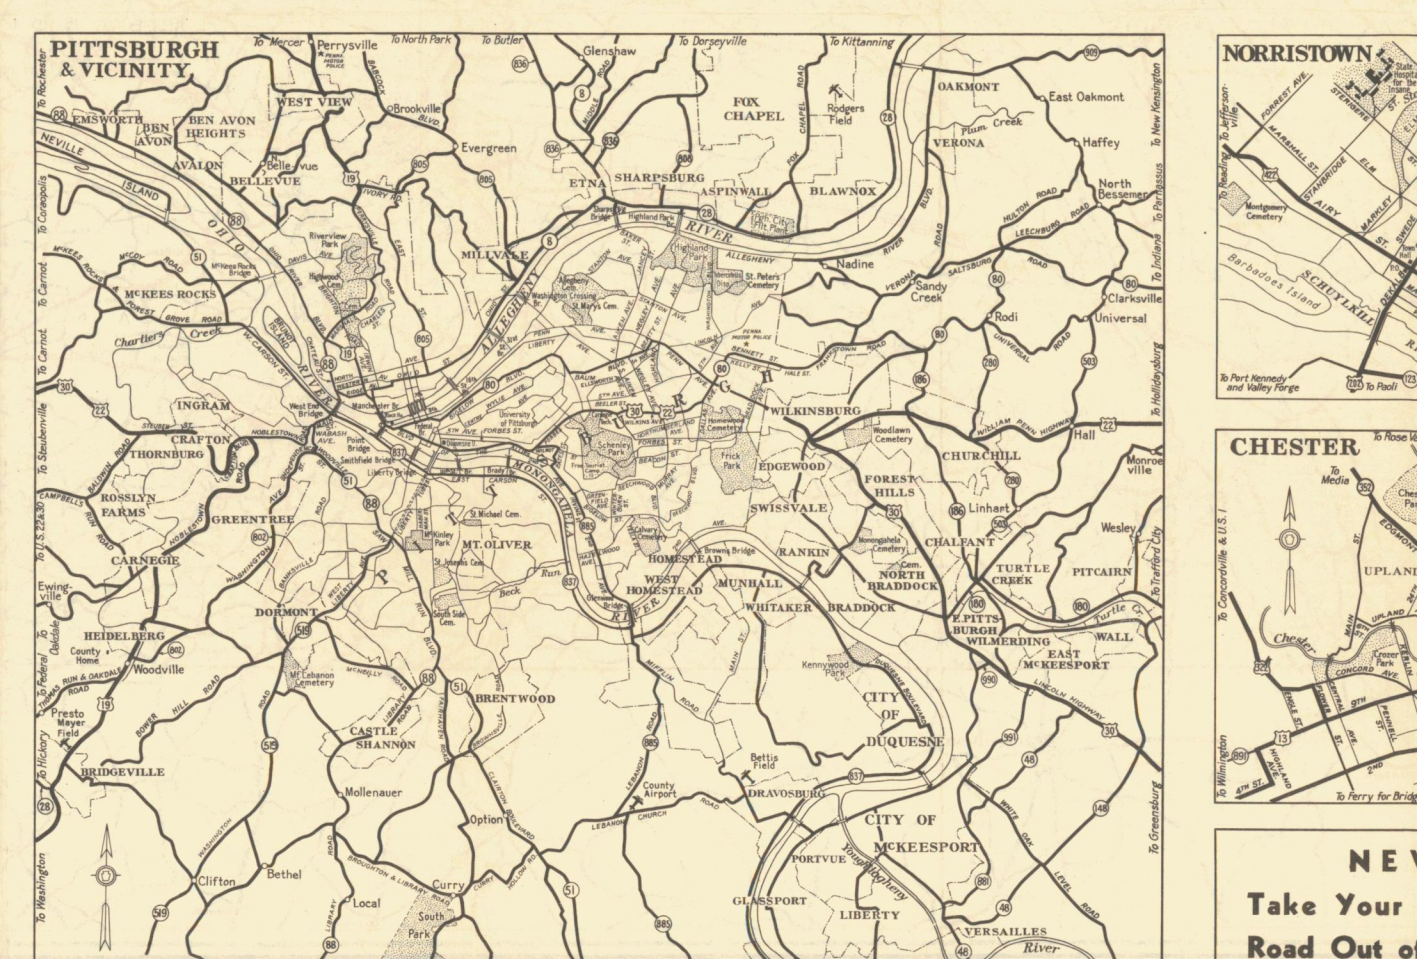

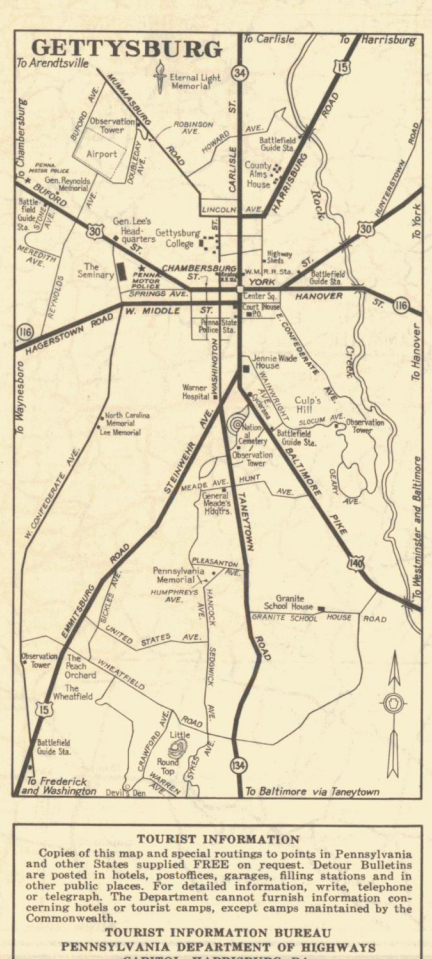

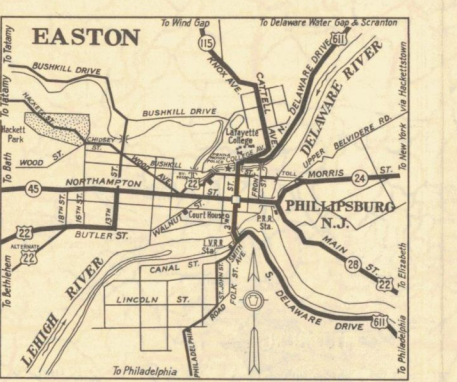

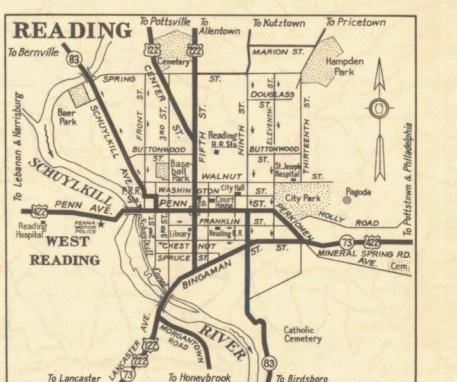

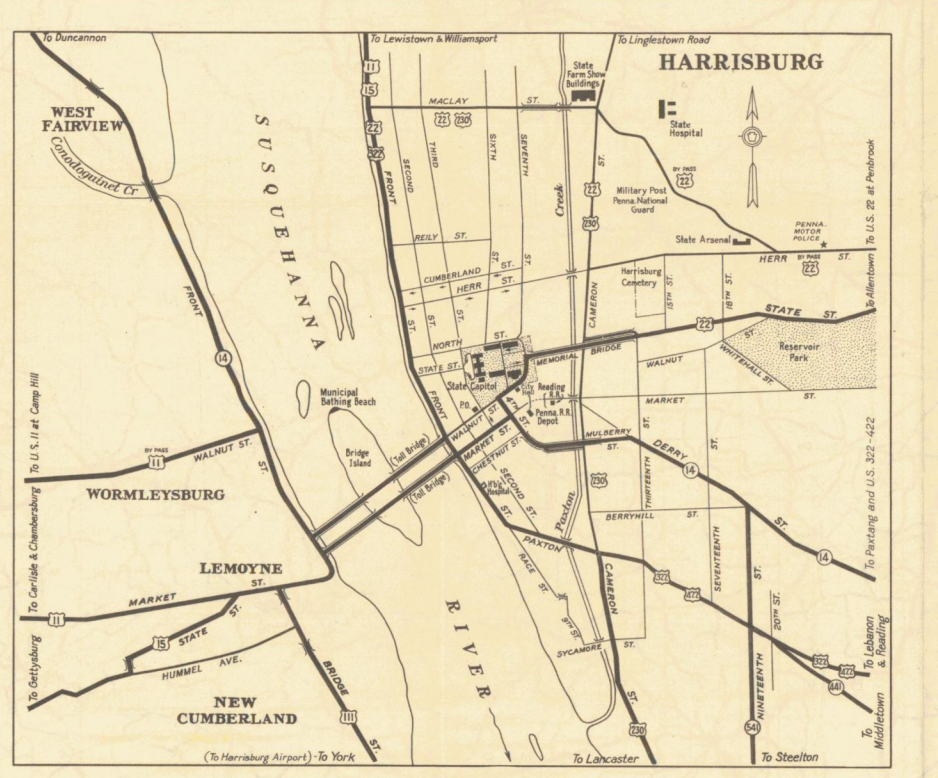

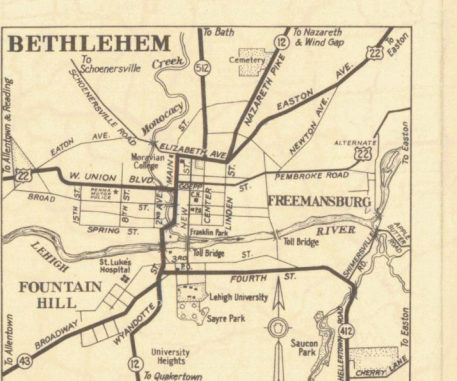

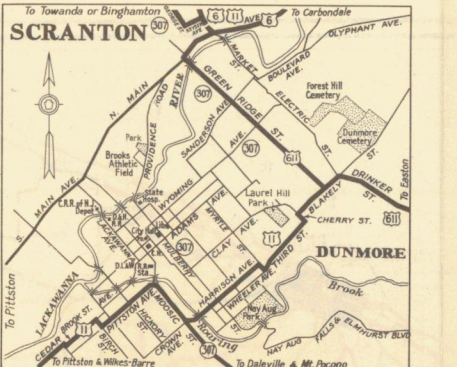

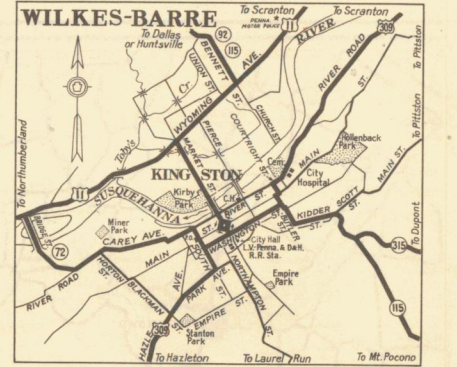

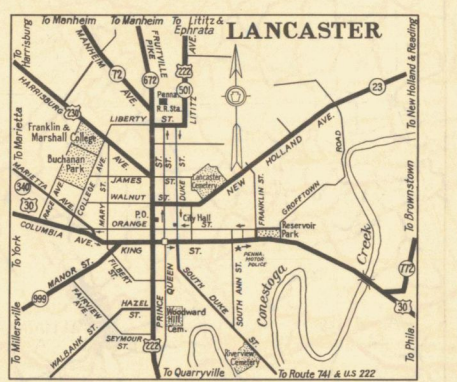

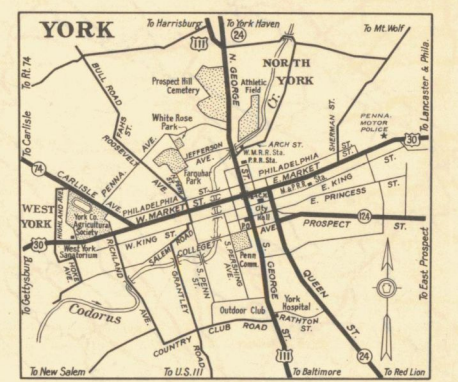

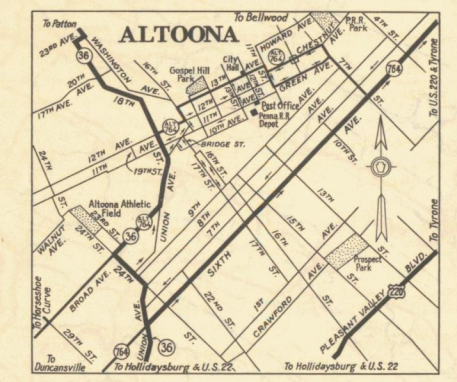

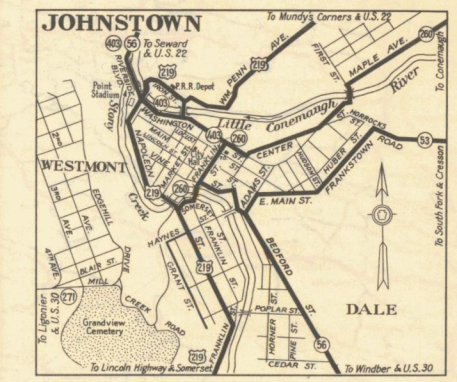

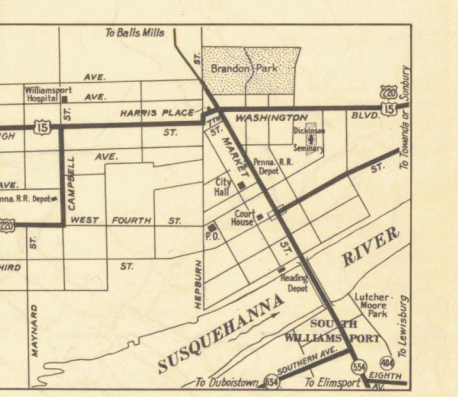

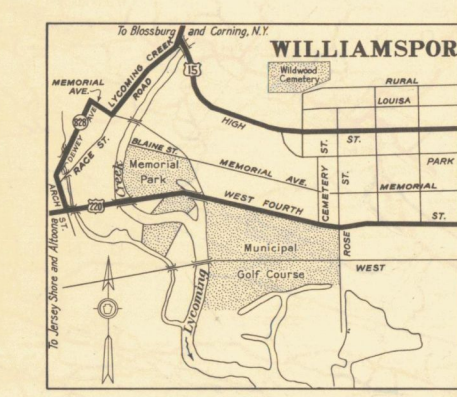

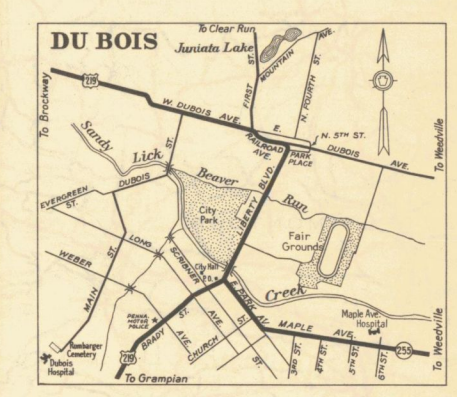

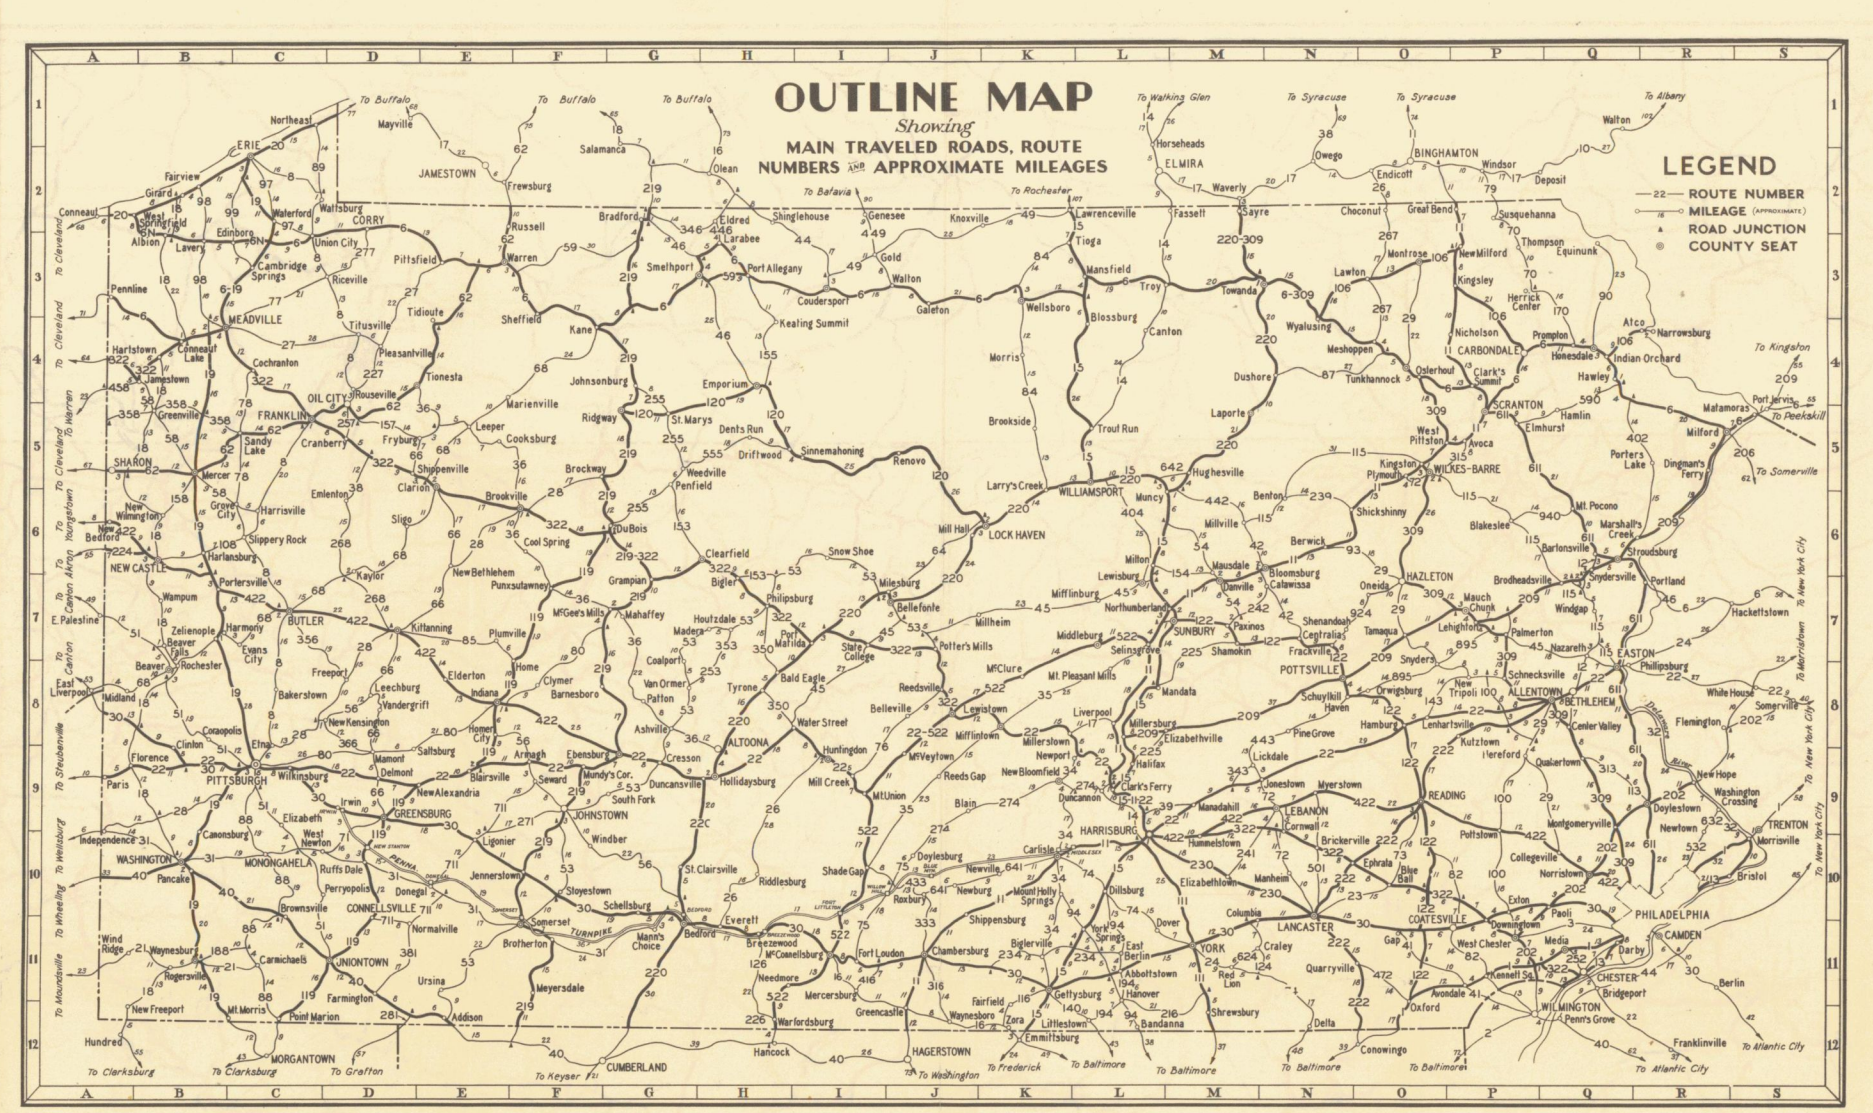

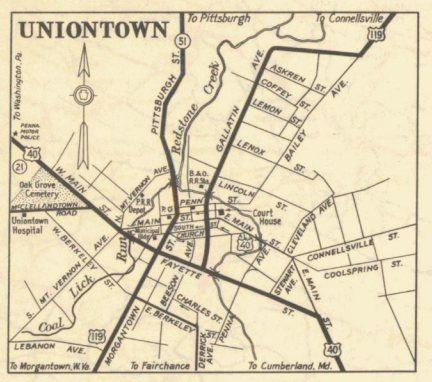

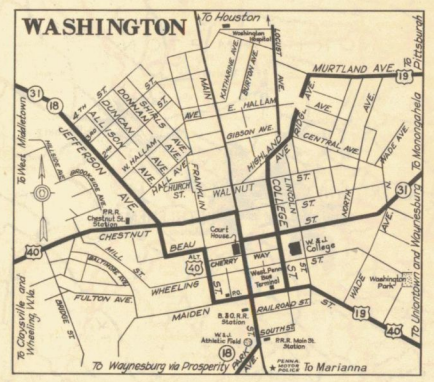

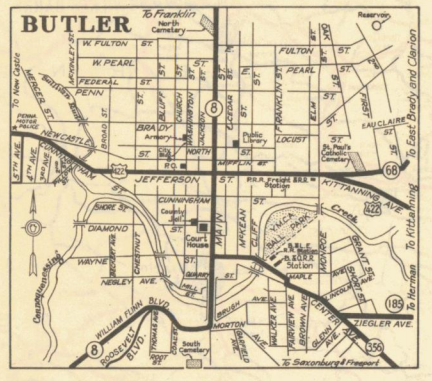

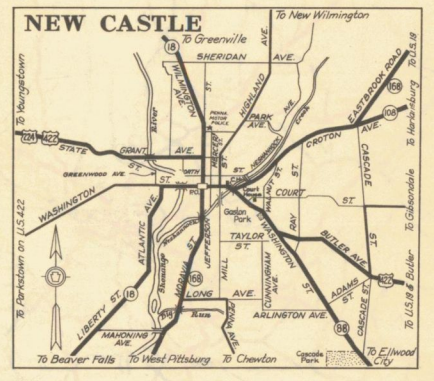

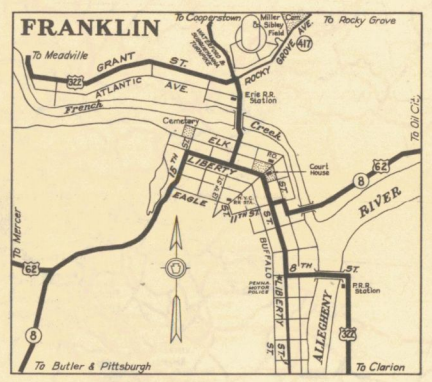

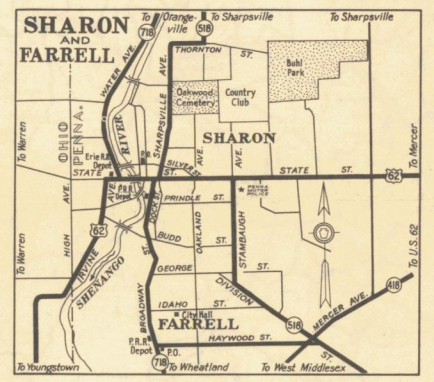

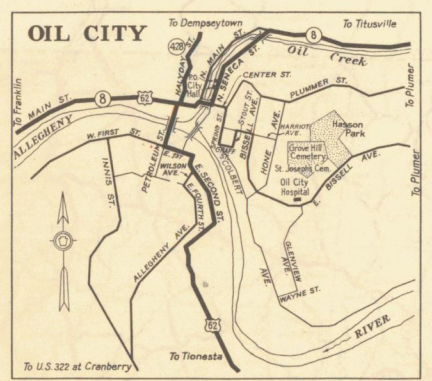

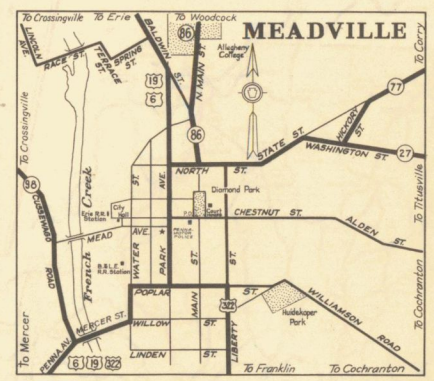

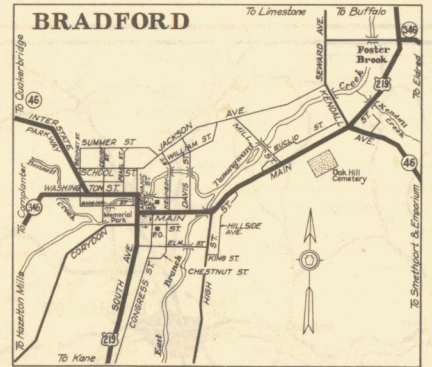

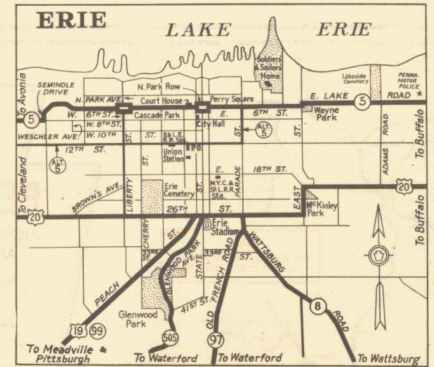

Traffic Signal Interference—The green signal must be observed unless otherwise directed by an officer. Signals at an intersection shall be construed as follows: (1) Green or "Drive" means you may proceed in the direction permitted. Pedestrians crossing on green have right of way. (2) Yellow or "Caution" means you must stop before entering intersection. No traffic move, except that within intersection. (3) Red or "Stop" means you must stop before entering intersection. Remain standing until Green or "GO" is shown above. (4) Green Arrow or "TURN" means left turn is permitted on a Green Arrow, no left turn shall be made on the Green or "GO". (5) Flashing Yellow "DANGER AHEAD." The usual caution. (6) Flashing Red "DANGEROUS INTERSECTION"—Come to a complete stop before entering.

Operator's License—A licensed non-resident operator may operate a Pennsylvania-registered motor vehicle in this State. Non-resident operators are subject to the Pennsylvania Financial Responsibility Law and, under penalty of reciprocal suspension of operating privileges, must report all accidents resulting in death, injury, or a total of $50 property damage to one or more cars.

Buses and Trucks—Buses and trucks, when traveling roads outside of business or residential districts, shall not follow another such vehicle within 500 feet, except when overtaking and passing. Foreign-registered vehicles must comply with the Pennsylvania maximum-load limits.

Keep on the Right Side of the Road—Don't cross the white lines which are painted on highways because of the danger and accident history of the stretch. Don't overtake and pass a vehicle until you have a clear view ahead for at least 500 feet. Before passing, be sure you have space to re-enter the line of traffic ahead. Don't pass on curves, when approaching the crest of a hill, at railway grade crossing, or between signs indicating men are at work, or in a "No Passing Zone."

Stop at "STOP" Signs—The law requires and your safety depends that you come to a full stop before entering a through-highway, or any intersection guarded by a STOP sign. Don't court arrest or risk your life by merely slowing down.
